Employee Break to Educate Webinar Series: November 2021

Approved by: Administrator

1 Registration for November Webinars

A Background

FSA's Outreach Office established the Break to Educate webinar series to educate employees on various topics that relate to the work of FSA. Unlike program outreach webinars, these brief webinars normally focus on topics indirectly related to FSA programs. The goal of the webinars is to provide knowledge on topics that may enhance program implementation. Webinar sessions are an effective way to provide live demonstrations and answer questions for a large, disperse audience, while minimizing overall training time and expense.

The month of November is annually observed as National Native American Heritage Month. The United States Government has a unique, legal, and political relationship with American Indians and Alaska Natives and their tribal governments as defined through treaties, statutes, court decisions, and Executive Order 13175.

This brief webinar educates employees about best practices for recruitment, working with tribal producers and communities and tribal consultation and cross-cultural communications. Employees will have the opportunity to submit questions during the presentation in the Q&A box. The webinars are recorded and posted for later viewing on the Outreach webinar intranet page.
